This article has been retracted at the request of the Editor.

Reason: It appears that the authors have tried to present some different results in JSIR compared to IJPAP, however that do not seem substantially incremental to contribute to the field of research. Further, the reuse of many figures without proper citation is a concern of self-plagiarism.

The matter has been pointed out by a reader and the Editor is thankful to the reader for the same. The scientific community takes strong view on this matter and we apologize to the readers of the journal that this was not detected during the publication process. We deeply regret any inconvenience to the scientific readership.
